

THE FIRST SIGLER DWELLING IN MARYLAND.

This old log house was built by the first Siglers in Maryland, it is today a saloon, the logs have been sided and the family that had it as a saloon before prohibition is now operating. It is located two blocks north of the Patomic River in WESTERNPORT which is just across the river from Piedmont W.Va. It was here the Siglers first settled, being among the first settlers in these regions of the North fork of the Potomac River. George Washington once made this his head-quarters while Siglers had it. A Mrs. Morris operated it with Sigler as a Post office and store. Again years later Phillip Sigler purchased it for OTHA his son, which was his share of the inheritance. This picture was taken before prohibition showing the original hand hewn logs.
